

A Pony With Cow's Feet.

Nevada, Ia., June 5.—A freak colt was foaled here yesterday. A Shetland pony mare belonging to Orrin Lash, a retired farmer who has just moved into town, gave birth to a colt, and three of the hoofs of the bay Shetland were perfectly formed cows' feet as one ever found upon. The fourth hoof, the right hind one, is naturally formed. The colt is strong and healthy, chases about the barn yard with the mother and is natural in all other ways.

Many have gazed upon the little curiosity, and all are unable to advance any satisfactory explanation for this freak of nature. At first Mr. Lash was inclined to kill the little fellow, but as the colt was strong and apparently able to make his way through the world on right, his neighbors prevailed upon him to save the little one. A great many people have called to see the freak.

Mrs. Emmaline Barnes, of Bushnell, Ill., who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. O. Williams, northwest of town, went to Monroe City Saturday to visit her son.—Shelbina Democrat.

For Why.

As No. 4 on the Burlington passed through Monday afternoon J. H. Whitecotton candidate for governor swung off for a hurried pow-wow with his political friend J. L. Lyon of the Burlington Ry., and came with in an ace of being killed.

You see Jim Whitecotton is a Paris man and accustomed to every thing that is slow, except running for office, and was paying no attention to the baggage smashers who were rapidly dropping a car load of sample cases on the platform and came near being knocked down and out by one of the large heavy cases.

Stole Tags.

W. E. Yowell and Sam G. Demaree have been saving their Tinsley tobacco tags for two years and had about 500 of them and intended to cash them in for $5 Saturday. They knew the tags were in a box on the bench Friday, but between then and Saturday afternoon they had done the disappearing act.

The boys were provoked over the loss of the tags and as yet do not know whether it was a prank of a friend or a clean steal.

N. J. Winters, of Milan, candidate for Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner was here yesterday. Mr. Winters is one of the Missouri's most enthusiastic working Democrats, ever loyal to the interests of the party.

F. M. Nolen is a candidate for re-election as Sheriff. He is now serving his first term and has made a good, faithful officer. Marion is a hustler and promises that if he is re-elected he will continue to perform his duty.

J. Curt Hill, of Holliday, is in the race for Assessor. Mr. Hill is crippled in one arm but he is an energetic, deserving young man who would fill the office satisfactorily and would make an excellent official.

A. D. Buford asks for your support for Sheriff. He is well known all over the county as an aggressive Democrat. He has been a deputy sheriff for the past 20 years and is fully qualified to fill the place.

Bryan's Beautiful Eulogy.

The following tribute of immortality is from a eulogy over a deceased member, which was delivered by W. J. Bryan, then one of the youngest members of Congress. It will rank with anything of the kind ever uttered in the house:

"If the Father designs to touch with divine power the cold and pulseless heart of the buried acorn and make it break forth from its wall, will He leave neglected the soul of man, who was made in the image of the Creator? If He stoops to give to the rose, whose withered blossoms float upon the autumn breeze, the sweet assurance of another spring-time, will He withhold the word of hope from the souls of men when the frosts of winter come? If matter, mute or inanimate, though changed by the forces of nature into a multitude of forms, can never die, will the spirit of man suffer annihilation after it had paid a brief visit, like a royal guest, to this tenement of clay? Rather let us believe that He who in His apparent prodigality wastes not the rain drop, the blade of grass or the shining evening zephyr but makes them all carry out His eternal plans, has given immortality to the soul and gathered to Himself the generous spirit of our friend."

Ducked.

Saturday afternoon John Jackson of north of the city came to town with his glad rags on intending to see his best. He went down to the Cement Block Plant and there found Julius Jackson and Evan Smith, cousin and friend, who thought John looked to cute for anything and they didn't do a thing but pick him up by the heels and poke him head downward into the big tank up to his ears at the mineral well. May be John is now laying for his tormentors.

The boys then caught another young fellow who was on dress parade, but just as they got him to the tank he begged so pitifully that they let him off.
